

ICAC's 82nd Plenary Meeting

International Hotel
Tashkent, Uzbekistan

29 Sept - 3 Oct 2024

Amrouk El Mamoun

El Mamoun Amrouk is an economist with the Trade and Markets Division of the Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations (FAO). He specializes in the analysis of agricultural commodity markets, including trade policy issues. He has authored or co-authored a number of publications on various issues pertaining to international commodity markets and medium-term outlook for major agricultural commodities. He has represented FAO at major conferences and events covering the international and regional agricultural markets. His current work looks at the issues of macroeconomic shocks, energy and trade policies, and their effects on agricultural trade. He holds an MSc from McGill University and a PhD in Agricultural Economics from the Institute for Food and Resource Economics of the University of Bonn.